

Description of the Assignment

Objective:

Students created twelve to fifteen digital images portraying one specific topic of their choice using the skills and techniques learned throughout this course including, but not limited to color correcting, focus, exposure and composition. During the course on a weekly basis, I assigned students to photograph a variety of photographic genres all of which exist heavily in both the fine art and commercial art world of photography today. For example students practiced straight documentary, creating a tableaux, portraiture of strangers, portraiture of loved ones, capturing a personal safe space and more. Pushing my students to step out of their comfort zone and into a variety of different genres helped them to understand what they were naturally drawn to photographing. The final assignment in the class below gave students the opportunity to immerse themselves in a subject and genre of their choice while demonstrating their technical photographic skills learned in my course.

Requirements for submission of the portfolio included:

- Must create 12-15 prints total.
- Must create a cohesive series about one topic.
- Must be corrected properly using the techniques learned this semester.
- Must be printed at size 8x10.
- Must have consistent borders.
